PERRP Safety and Health Training Checklist

The following is a generic list of training and information subjects found in adopted standards. This list represents the most common requirements and does not necessarily include all of the training or employee information that may be required for your workplace. Review adopted PERRP standards in 29 CFR 1910, 29 CFR 1926, 29 CFR 1928, 10 CFR 20 and OAC 4167 to determine subjects and topic details for required training and information. Consult OSHA publication 2254 for a more comprehensive summary of training requirements and guidelines.
